

Security & Copyright

As a member or other user of the site and services of TIPRM, you agree that you must take reasonable security precautions. You agree to protect the confidentiality of your password, and to change your password periodically. You may not share your password or login details or allow non-members to view any member-restricted content. You will not, without explicit prior permission of TIPRM, publish, duplicate, copy, share, link or plagiarise any content on the TIPRM site, any publication of TIPRM or any information concerning the opinions, works or activities of any TIPRM member. Copyright is held on all work made available by TIPRM, such copyright is vested in either TIPRM or the contributing member(s).

You may not use TIPRM's services for email that is not related to the activities of TIPRM. Email from TIPRM's service must only be addressed to recipients that have given their consent to receive email via some affirmative means. You may not use TIPRM's resources for bulk email, either as sent or as an address for receipt. If you would like to learn more about how we received your email address please contact us.

TIPRM respects intellectual property. If you believe your copyright is being infringed by a person using the TIPRM services, please send your written notice of copyright infringement to:

The Institute Of Pest Management and Training Pty Ltd
103 Grimshaw Street
Greensborough, 3088
Australia

Your notification must:

- Be in writing;
- Be signed by the copyright owner or agent;
- Identify the original copyrighted work (or works) you claim has been infringed;
- Identify the material that is infringing the copyrighted work;
- Include contact information so the designated agent can reach you, if necessary;
- Include a statement your complaint is in "good faith;"
- Include a statement the information in the notification is accurate; and
- Include a statement that under penalty of perjury you are authorised to act on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.

TIPRM will terminate the services of repeat copyright infringers.